

Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, SW
Abernathy
Room 8B201
Copps
Washington, D.C. 20554
Martin
(202) 418-1000 phone

Chairman Michael K. Powell
Commissioner Kathleen Q.

Commissioner Michael J.

Commissioner Kevin J.

Reference: FCC Docket Nos 96-45, 98-171, 90-571, 92-237, 99-200, 95-116, 98-170 and NSD File No. L-00-72.

Dear FCC:

Dear Sir:

The reason I have a TracFone is for help on the highway and because my husband has had strokes. This way he can get with me if he needed me when he is at home by himself. When I am visiting my mother in N. C. because she is very ill and I leave my husband at his sister's house, she can reach easy on the TracFone. Some people just have a wireless because it is the popular thing to do but I feel that people should one for emergencies or if it is necessary to get up with someone.

It is unfair to raise the prices for something that is used for emergency only. If you go up 1.00 now then it will be more and more. What is the reason for the raise anyway?

Sincerely,
Shelvy Manning

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,

Shelvy Manning
108 Aspenwood Dr.

CC: FCC Subcommittee Members